1. On 21 September 1948, well-armed guerrillas ambushed a Dutch patrol of seven men in Pasir Kamoening, Tjikampek, rural Batavia. Two members of the patrol were killed and one was wounded. Reinforcements were sent by both parties and fighting was resumed. One civil police constable was also killed.
2. Investigation proved that members of the Boero Perdjoangan of the Partai Komunis Indonesia were among the guerrillas. Members of the Boero Perdjoangan have been infiltrating from the interior via Tasikmalaja and the environs of Bandoeng to Tjikampek.
3. Since 22 September 1948, important military establishments in Batavia have been guarded by the Royal Netherlands Indonesian Army, rather than by the Royal Netherlands Army. Even men of sixty and sixty-five years have been mobilized to guard military establishments.
